Summary

As a Full Stack Javascript Developer with a passion for continuous learning and growth, I thrive on tackling new challenges and collaborating with others to create innovative solutions. I am also a strong communicator who values feedback and takes an iterative approach to problem-solving. Whether working independently or as part of a team, I am dedicated to producing code that is efficient, scalable, and maintainable. In my spare time, you can also find me long distance running, hiking, or catching up on the latest Apple product leaks and rumors.
